

History of cases analyzed by the Marine Forensics Program. Bar height indicates the number of cases per year, and colors indicate broad taxonomic groups. Dashes represent the cumulative number of species identified, and the regression line predicts that the number of new species the MFP will be asked to identify will continue to rise sharply.